

Hutchens, Senter & Britton Attorney Awarded Specialist Designation

Attorney J. Chris Huff certified as residential real estate specialist

FAYETTEVILLE, WILMINGTON, RALEIGH and CLAYTON, N.C., December 2006 – The Law Firm of Hutchens, Senter & Britton, P.A., an established creditors' rights and civil litigation law firm based in Fayetteville, North Carolina, announced today that attorney J. Chris Huff has received the residential real estate specialist designation.

"We congratulate Chris on having been awarded this singular distinction," said Terry Hutchens, managing partner of Hutchens, Senter & Britton. "We are extremely proud of Chris for having been recognized as a practitioner of excellence in this specialized area, and for the added value this level of expertise will bring to our clients."

The residential real estate specialist designation is a peer-reviewed certification issued by the North Carolina State Bar to attorneys that have been licensed for a minimum of five years, have had substantial involvement in the specialty practice area and have passed a six-hour written examination. Attorneys also participate in continuing legal education in their specialty area.

Huff received his bachelors of business administration degree from Campbell University, in Buies Creek, N.C. and his J.D. from Norman Wiggins School of Law at Campbell University. He is a member of the North Carolina, American and Cumberland County Bar associations and North Carolina Academy of Trial Lawyers.
