

Paralegals Earn Certification By North Carolina State Bar

Courtney Armstrong, Rochelle Tew, and Linda Williams of The Law Firm of Hutchens, Senter & Britton, P.A., recently earned their paralegal certification by the North Carolina State Bar Board of Paralegal Certification.

Armstrong, a traveling paralegal, earned her associate degree in Paralegal Studies at Fayetteville Technical Community College.

Tew, who handles real estate loan closings, is a member of the Cumberland County Paralegal Association.

Williams, legal assistant to Terry Hutchens, earned her associate degree in Paralegal Studies from Fayetteville Technical Community College. She is a member of the North Carolina Academy of Trial Lawyers (NCATL) and has served on several committees within the NCATL.