

Rebecca Britton Joins Hutchens Senter & Britton

Named Civil Litigation Partner

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C., SEPTEMBER 2005 – The Law Firm of Hutchens Senter & Britton, P.A., a creditors' rights and civil litigation law firm based in North Carolina, announced that Rebecca J. Britton has joined the Firm as a partner. Britton will be based in the Firm's Fayetteville office and will concentrate her practice in civil litigation including, medical negligence, personal injury, wrongful death, civil rights and sexual assault. "We are very pleased to announce that Rebecca is joining the Firm as a partner," said Terry Hutchens, managing partner of Hutchens Senter & Britton. "Rebecca brings another level of experience to our growing team of attorneys. We are focused on serving the needs of our clients by providing them a broad range of legal services."

Britton received her law degree from Campbell University in Buies Creek, N.C. and her undergraduate degree from University of Maine in Presque Isle, Maine. She is a member of the North Carolina Bar Association and serves on the executive committee for litigation section. Britton is admitted to the U.S. District Courts for the Eastern and Middle Districts of North Carolina, the U.S. Court of Appeals, Fourth Circuit and the U.S. Supreme Court. Britton is president-elect of the North Carolina Academy of Trial Lawyers; and a member on various boards of directors, such as the Carolina Center for Civic Education, the North Carolina Association of Women Attorneys, and the National High School Mock Trial Competition. Britton is also an adjunct professor of pretrial litigation at Campbell University.